

BAGSY THIS FOR CHARITY

IS some arm candy on your wish list this Christmas? If Santa has your pressie well and truly in the bag, we have just the answer for what to do with your old one – give it to Handbags For Hospices.

The charity auctions donated handbags from around the world, such as the ones below, and gives the profits to UK hospices.

Paloma Faith and Davina McCall have both donated, as has TV presenter Zoe Ball who says: "I've got family and friends who have been cared for at The Martlets Hospice. It's a real pleasure that I can give something back to show my support."

You can browse their bags for sale on facebook.com/HandbagsForHospices. If you would like to donate, email info@handbagsforhospices.com.

Zoe Ball's bag, rrp £595, Mulberry and, below, leaf print bag, rrp £250, Orla Kiely

Gemma Arterton's bag, rrp £600, Rika

Clutch bag, expected bid £20, vintage

Paloma Faith's bag, left, rrp £59, Olga Berg; red woven bag, rrp £15, TK Maxx